

You're the Editor!

Most of these sentences have errors in them: a few are correct; some are actual errors from the NBTAM manuscript. If you find an error, underline it and rewrite the correct sentence in the third column. If it is correct, then leave it blank.

Ch. #	Sentence	Your Correction
1	He stepped forward, and rested a hand on the side of the Jeep.
2	I wondered if the scheduling goddess could put him in some of my classes in the Fall.
3	It probably wasn't what Jesus would do, but, it was better than what I wanted to do.
4	Caitlyn's eyes drifted back to her boyfriend, then she heaved a heavy sigh as she fumbled through her purse for a tissue.
5	Amazingly, neither my father or his publisher considered any of my suggestions.
6	"Okay goodnight Mom."
7	Rob offered from a closer proximity than I would of liked.

8	I mean, how exactly should I turn down a mother that asked me to prom on her son's behalf?
9	There clouding your judgement.
10	High school english teachers didn't need volunteers.
11	Ooh, your in trouble, girl!
12	He made it to second, spat into the grass, and adjusted his ball cap.
13	Love at six is completely different than love at sixteen.
14	"Why not? The Callahan's don't have any clocks over there?"
15	I had absolutely nothing to loose this time.
16	I felt the need to explain farther.
17	I need your advise.
18	"Mine said, 'You are in good hands this evening.'"
19	This is the last song of the night, and irregardless if I'm right or wrong, you'll probably forget all about why we were fighting in a few days anyway.
20	My date however kept his eyes on the road.
21	Fine. I dreamt about you and I.

22	I could imagine a future with him: he would come home from work, and I would have dinner ready for him.
23	As he unbuttoned his shirt, I asked, “You want some music”?
24	When they tapped our shoulders, we squealed like thirteen year old girls are prone to do.
25	I felt like I had the flu and the symptoms presented themselves with an uncanny speed.
26	I had done more with him then I had with anyone else.
27	My family was gone for the day: Dad caught a 9:40 to Chicago-O’Hare; Brad headed to the beach with some guys from the tennis team; and Mom had already left for work.
28	The conversation, with it’s uncomfortable lapses, had gone full circle again.
29	I spent the days going on long runs through the hilly countryside chatting with my grandmother on the front porch or visiting with summer acquaintances.

30	When's dad coming home?
31	I laid there like I was dead because so much of me was already gone.
32	Rob never cared about how the truth would effect me; he just cared about upholding his principals.
33	Then she sat besides me on the couch.

Notes: